

The Henry Allen Trust

For many families one of the hardest things to do is keep a sense of normality for families when a child is diagnosed with cancer.

It was an absolute pleasure to meet The Henry Allen Trust team last week where I learnt how the Treats and Wishes programme provides a much needed reprieve from the seemingly endless hospital visits - allowing children to be children once again and giving families an opportunity to create some treasured memories.

They offer incredible support in children's oncology units and I've no doubt that their work is greatly appreciated by everyone who comes into contact with the dedicated team.

For more information on the charity and their upcoming events, please visit their website at www.thehenryallentrust.org.uk/