

The Falklands - Remembrance Day

I had the honour of flying to the Falklands in my role as Defence Minister for Veterans, Reserves & Personnel to attend the Remembrance Sunday service.

Whilst I would normally be on parade at Newport Pagnell, I accepted the offer of attending the Port Stanley service in the Falklands in my Ministerial capacity as I wanted to send a clear message to the Falkland Islanders of the support they have from all of the UK.